

COUNTERFEITERS CAUGHT; MAN AND WIFE WERE MAKING TEN DOLLAR GOLD PIECES

"Someone is always taking the joy out of life was the plainly evident expression on which faces of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Freeman, this morning when Gus Kyropoulos, a waiter at the Broadway cafe, discovered a false ring to the coin with which Freeman attempted to pay for their breakfast and turned them over to the police.

They are now in the city jail awaiting an investigation which will, in all probability, result in their being turned over to the federal authorities to stand trial on a charge of counterfeiting, in one of its several phases. Sergeant T. H. Blackburn was the officer who officiated at the arrest, at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

The coin which caused the couple to be placed in durance vile, was a very crude imitation of a ten-dollar gold piece of 1910 mintage. To make matters more serious for its manipulator, its mate was passed last night at the Alhambra cafe on Twenty-fourth street and is also at present in the hands of Sergeant Blackburn.

To begin at the beginning of the case, Mrs. Morrow, a neat and intelligent appearing young woman, with bright brown eyes, went into the Alhambra cafe about 6 p. m., yesterday and ordered a substantial dinner. After partaking of the meal she informed the Chinese waiter that she wanted to purchase a $5 meal ticket. This was soon brought to her and she gave the waiter a coin which he took to be a perfectly good $10 gold piece. The cost of the dinner was purchased out of the ticket and the young woman was given $5 in change. Shortly after her departure from the restaurant, the proprietor discovered that he had traded some good money for bad and reported the discovery to a patrolman.

Waiter E. Moore, also giving a description of the woman who had defrauded him, together with the name, S. E. McCarthy she had signed for the meal ticket.

The counterfeit coin was also taken in charge by the patrolman and turned over, with his report on the case, to Sergeant Blackburn. About 10:25 o'clock this morning a "hurry-up" call came to the police station from the Broadway cafe, on Twenty-fifth street, between Washington and Hudson avenue, and Sergeant Blackburn was driven to the cafe in the police automobile by Chauffeur Earl Wiggins, and there found the alleged counterfeiters, who were being detained by the restaurant men. They were quickly taken to the police station, booked and locked in separate cells.

On Freeman's coat lapel was found an Eagles' lodge pin, which he said was from Visalia, Cal., and in his pockets were found two pocket knives, one stuffed with plaster of paris, and about $18 in cash, including three good $5 gold pieces. His age was given as 24 years and his appearance was that of an uneducated country youth. His wife wore five valuable rings, one having a diamond setting. They gave their names as Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morrow, and their place of residence as Yerington, Nevada, and said they had been at the Reed hotel during their stay in Ogden.

Confession Made. By telephone, Sergeant Blackburn verified the statement that they were registered at the Reed hotel and that they had been there since Sunday. Going to the hotel with Detective Robert Chambers, the sergeant searched the room of the couple and found a complete, though crude, counterfeiting outfit, which gave evidence of having been recently used. The outfit consisted of two bottles of acid, found on a shelf in the clothes closet, and a heating stone, melting pot, plates and dies, several spoons and ladels, a piece of silver bullion and several pieces of baser metals in a suitcase and a dresser drawer.

These were taken to the station and late this afternoon were placed before Mrs. Freeman in the detectives' room. Without any apparent desire to beg the question, the young woman admitted that her husband owned the outfit and then told her story to the officers. She was an orphan, she said, and had been reared by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Logan of Yerington, Nev. Her maiden name was Elma Morrow, and she graduated about three years ago from a Reno, Nev., Catholic school. About a year afterward she was married to Freeman, who was a miner by trade, and since that time they had traveled over the western states to a considerable extent.

When her husband obtained the outfit with which to make the spurious coins, Mrs. Freeman further related to the officers, she tried to dissuade him from using it, but was unsuccessful. They came to Ogden from Elly, Nev., and Monday, in their room at the Reed hotel, she said, she saw Freeman making use of the counterfeiting paraphernalia.

U. S. Officer Notified. Immediately after obtaining the statement of the young woman, Sergeant Blackburn reported the case to United States Marshall Aquila Nebeker at Salt Lake City, and it is expected that the marshal will come to Ogden this afternoon to take it in hand.

Speaking of the capture of the alleged counterfeiter and his wife, who is but 21 years of age, Gus Kyropoulos, the Greek waiter at the Broadway, said the couple came into the cafe and were served with a 95-cent breakfast. In payment for this Freeman proffered the waiter one of the spurious $10 pieces. "It didn't look good to me," Kyropoulos said, "and, when I turned to the cash register, I threw it down on the marble casing over the drawer. Then I was sure it was no good." Continuing, Kyropoulos said he turned around and asked Freeman where he got "that kind of money." The answer was, "from the bank." Both the man and woman appeared very nervous at the attitude of the Greek and he gave them further cause for worry when he followed up Freeman's answer with, "If you obtained that kind of money from the bank, I'll see about it." He then told one of the other waiters to call the police station and prevented the suspected couple from leaving the restaurant.

Another Member of Gang. In connection with the counterfeiting case against Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Freeman, unearthed by the police this morning, information was given the officers late this afternoon by Mrs. Freeman that a third party had been working with her husband. She described the man, and J. L. Hanson succeeded in locating and taking him into custody a half hour afterward. He proved to be C. M. Freeman, an older brother of J. E. Freeman, and he had a purse full of spurious $1, $5, $10 and 10-cent pieces in his possession.

ANOTHER GENEROUS MILLIONAIRE TELLS THE WORLD ABOUT SELF.

New York, N. Y.—Mr. J. C. B. Wall, an oil and gas millionaire from Oklahoma, stopping at a well known hotel, states in an interview how his life and happiness was saved by reading the following prescription in his paper. He is quoted as saying: "Strange how a little incident changed my entire life. Wealth came to me after years of toil, and naturally as most men I abused its privileges until I became a nervous wreck, with throbbing brain, aches and pains, loss of appetite, energy and ambition. In fact life seemed not worth living. Hope was dead and pleasure had fled. Then I read a prescription for just such ailments as beset me. My druggist filled it for me. Improvement followed and improvement and I continued its use until hale and hearty once more. Judicious living has kept me strong, stronger than before. I kept the prescription and want it published to help others. Here it is: One oz. each of tincture cadomene compound, compound fluid balmwort, compound essence carded and three ounces compound syrup sarsaparilla, mix together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime. My what vim it gives only one such as I can ever realize."

NOTE—Local druggists and physicians commend highly the peculiar virtues of this prescription and any good druggist can fill it.—Advertisement.

FRENCH PLAN FOR STRICT ECONOMY

Paris, Feb. 8, 4:50 a. m.—A bill will be introduced in the French parliament shortly providing for the addition of fifteen percent of maize, rye or barley flour to wheat used for bread making. The stopping of the sale of fresh bread is also proposed.

The closing of the big department stores for two days a week is also under consideration as a measure to economize fuel. The store directors, however, object to such a step on the ground that great hardships would be inflicted on sales people and other employees who would be forced to lose two days employment. They insist that if the daylight saving measure is put into effect on February 15 or by March 1 at the latest, there will be no need to use artificial light in the stores and the result in economy will be equal to that of closing two days a week.
